

Who is your child's teacher?

I believe: without struggle, there is no growth and that everyone can learn and do math with patience and focused effort

Graduated from UIUC with Major in Math and Minor in Secondary Education

Prior to Richwoods, I have taught:
Middle School Math,

Algebra 1,

9th year teaching

Algebra 2,

and Pre-Calculus

I like trying new things and I am pretty experienced with technology

I have a husband and two daughters age 4 and 3

Microsoft Office Lens or Office Lens

1. Download "Office Lens"
2. Take 1st picture, you can adjust what is included after
3. Tap "Add New"
4. Take 2nd picture, you can adjust afterwards and you should see a numbered circle at the top of each selected picture
5. Tap the ">" in the orange circle to combine into a pdf
6. Tap the "Done" orange oval
7. Change the Title and save it as a pdf in your OneDrive.
8. Close out of there, Open our class in MS Teams, find the assignment and Click the paperclip labeled "Add Work." Find your document under Office Lens, and upload your pdf
9. Click the "Turn In" button

How do I check on my child's grades? Skyward has the grades

What should I be looking for?

Midterm 10% and Final 10%

Formative 15% - Everything else

Summative 65% - Portfolio Work Quizzes, given at least once a week
- Tests, Projects,
Once a Unit up to 3 retakes allowed a semester

Given daily

Only a few graded for accuracy.

Most graded on completion (40% means missing)

Portfolio Work

Graded on Accuracy like a small homework quiz

Homework is checked for completion (you will see a completion grade not an accuracy grade)

Quick accountability check

Student expected to check work with the key and fix it, or bring questions to class

Not retakeable

When from textbook Savvas will redirect to needed practice

I will check in about class participation with you

I am trying my best to email/text/call you:

If we are beginning a new unit

If they are doing awesome

If they really helped the class or over achieved

If they seem to be really struggling

If they are missing 3+ assignments

If they have disrupted the class 3+ different days
